The Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors of the War of the Revolution, prepared by the Secretary of the Commonwealth and published under an Act of 1891, includes all names upon the muster rolls, pay rolls and other documents which form the Revolutionary War archives of the State and the Nation, and against each name has been placed every entry of separate and distinct service. These records fill seventeen large volumes which are to be found in all the public libraries of the State.

Scattered here and there among the thousands of names are the records of Reading soldiers; this compilation has been made in order to make these records more available for study, and to give a clearer picture of the part taken by Reading men in the struggle for Independence.

Many men enlisted twice and their names are repeated; some are entered as members of a training band with no record of other service; a few non-residents were employed; omitting these, there remain over five hundred Reading men who took an active part in the War. In addition to these, thirty-six non-residents were credited as a part of the town's quota. Here are the records of 290 men who marched on the alarm of April 19, 1775 to Concord and Lexington, belonging to the four companies of Reading minute men under Capt. John Walton of the 1st Parish, Capt. John Flint of the 2nd Parish, Capt. Thomas Eaton of the 3rd Parish and Capt. John Bacheller of the 4th Co.

The entire number of males taxed in 1778 was but 261. Imagine the excitement of that April morning, when the entire male population, excepting the old men and boys, hurried by way of Woburn and Bedford to Merriam's Corner, in Concord, where, under the wise leadership of young Major Brooks, the demoralizing retreat of the British soldiers began!

Ninety-three men made a three months' "tour of duty" guarding the lines at Cambridge, Bunker Hill and Dorchester Heights during the siege of Boston.

One hundred sixty men joined the Continental Army, sixty-three of them enlisting for three years, thirty-three for one year. They took part in the war in Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York and New Jersey. Miserably equipped, they shared the sufferings of the army at Ticonderoga and Valley Forge, and gloried in its triumph at Trenton and the surrender of Burgoyne.

Reading men who had long and honorable records as commanding officers in the Continental Army were Col. John Brooks, Governor of Massachusetts, Col. Benjamin Brown, Captains William Green, Nathaniel Cowdrey, John Dix, James Bancroft and Abraham Foster.

A canvass of the more numerous family groups is interesting. There were 25 Eatons, including four bearing the name of Thomas, and Eliab whose bounty was twenty head of cattle in addition to his monthly wages; 22 Parkers; 19 Uptons, including four Amos'; 18 Emersons, with four Thomas'; 16 Flints with four Benjamins; 15 McIntires; 12 Nichols', and an equal number of Damons and Pratts, Browns and Bryants; 10n Waltons and Westons.

Four boys who enlisted in the Continental Army for three years were only 16 years of age; one was 15, and one, Richard Frost, whose stature was 4 ft. 10 in., was 12 years!

The large number of Old Testament names ranging from Amos, and Abraham to Zachariah and Zadoc, bear evidence that Reading inhabitants of that period regarded themselves as a "chosen people in a Promised Land".

Further study of these records will disclose many other items of interest, such as the ten Reading men who were taken prisoners on the privateer "Woolf", and carried to New York; the group of Reading-born slaves with such classical names as Cato, Caesar, Baccus and Olympias; records of soldiers who were paid with grain and hay; others who complained because they had received no pay; also the names of a very few "bounty jumpers", hired by Reading but non-residents.

The typewriting of these records was made possible through the cooperation of the Reading Civil Works Administration, and a copy may be found in the public libraries of Wakefield, Reading and North Reading.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be supported by a valid receipt or invoice. The text also mentions the need for regular audits to ensure the integrity of the financial data.

In the second section, the author details the various methods used for data collection and analysis. This includes the use of statistical software to process large volumes of information. The document highlights the challenges of data quality and the steps taken to minimize errors.

The final part of the document provides a summary of the findings and offers recommendations for future research. It suggests that further studies should focus on developing more robust data management systems to handle increasingly complex datasets.

The following table provides a detailed breakdown of the data collected during the study. Each row represents a different category, and the columns show the corresponding values for each variable.

Category	Variable 1	Variable 2	Variable 3
Group A	12.5	3.2	7.8
Group B	15.1	4.5	9.3
Group C	18.7	5.9	11.2
Group D	21.3	7.1	13.5
Group E	24.8	8.4	15.7

The data indicates a clear upward trend in all variables across the different groups. This suggests that the factors being studied have a significant positive impact on the outcomes measured.
